

Dear Recruiting Manager,

I am writing in response to the available Developer position you advertised on Indeed.com. I have a great experience with multiple programming languages including Python, Java, and JavaScript. Additionally, I have a bachelor's degree in Computer Engineering and a one-year professional experience as a developer.

In my previous role, I was able to gain expertise in developing animated and interactive web-based applications through markup languages, JavaScript, and JavaScript libraries like React.js. Also, throughout my personal and college projects, I obtained good knowledge in node.js, relational databases, developing native android and cross-platform applications, and to design simple, clean, and interactive user interfaces.

I have excellent technical and analytical abilities and my coding strengths as a programmer means I can correctly execute needed code sections with few errors. I have strong verbal and written communication skills and write solid technical manuals for developed applications.

I truly believe I would be a terrific choice for the vacant developer position at your reputable company. I am highly detail-oriented and can visualize how code will translate into the finished application. My ability to prioritize and effectively manages my time allows me to juggle several tasks simultaneously.

I am optimistic that upon a review of my enclosed cv and qualifications you will contact me for an interview. Should any further documents be required, I'll be more than glad to provide you.

Sincerely,
Haitham Chabayta
